Cognis Corporation, through its QTA® System business has partnered with the National Biodiesel Board (NBB) as the exclusive InfraRed analytical system Webinar partner through AllThingsBiodiesel.com.

Jefferson City, MO (PRWEB) March 27, 2009 -- Cognis Corporation, through its QTA® System business has partnered with the National Biodiesel Board (NBB) as the exclusive InfraRed analytical system Webinar partner through AllThingsBiodiesel.com.

Cognis Corporation's reports that their innovative QTA System monitors processes, improves yields and eliminates costly mistakes by quickly and easily testing feedstock and B100 with detailed results in less than two minutes. "We are happy to welcome Cognis QTA as a partner in our webinar program," said Doug Whitehead, Director of Operations for NBB. "NBB is always looking for ways to communicate new and/or innovative technologies to its members."

"QTA has been a supporter of NBB's mission for several years and we look forward to bringing our experience with leading-edge biodiesel process and quality testing approaches to the many participants in NBB's Webinars", added Barbara Stefl, Cognis' Global Business Director.

AllThingsBiodiesel.com's Webinar Program provides the partner opportunities to not only advertise their products and services on the website but also provide educational web-based presentations to NBB members. NBB plans to hold the first in a series of webinars with Cognis following the February conference. For more information about the Webinar Program, go to AllThingsBiodiesel.com. or call 1-800-841-5849.

AllThingsBiodiesel.com is part of the NBB family of web sites and provides NBB members and the biodiesel industry the opportunity to buy and sell services, and share information online. AllThingsBiodiesel.com is the retail web site for NBB and offers an online directory, classifieds, store and social exchange.
